DAMAGE TO BOOKS

Readers are reminded that under the provisions of the Canadian Criminal Code any wilful damage to property constitutes a criminal offence for which severe penalties can be inflicted.

Minor damages render the offender liable to a fine of $20.00, and he is also bound to compensate the owner up to a limit of $20.00. Refusal to pay these sums is punished with imprisonment up to two months. (Sections 539-540).

More serious damage can be visited with a term of imprisonment up to two years. (Section 510-E).

Edgar Cann, aged 51, admitted Westminster Hospital 12 May 65 Sent home from the Samaritan Hospital. Lives at 101 Palace Road, Westminster Bridge Road - Was under Mr. Hawken the house surgeon 3 mos.

Voice is in a low whisper, altho at times it has a loud hoarse tone.
Came on with a cold, cough & sore throat 9 months ago, with hoarseness - the aphonia has been complete the last 2 mos.
Probably the result of old syphilitic disease - Had syphilis 20 years ago, married a 2nd time 2 years ago, & now has some complaint of the womb. Impeded nasal breathing.

Laryngoscopy Is a decided swelling & inflamⁿ on the left side of the soft palate from an abscess there, & threatened perforating ulceration above the uvula, from behind, existing only 1 week.
There is old ulcer & jagged swelling of both true vocal cords, & at back of the larynx & much spasm & impeded breathing.
There may be a distinct separate growth on anterior part of right vocal cord, but the spasm & inflⁿ were too great to permit of clearly defining it. Is a lump on the left scapular end of clavicle & soreness over the sternum. some dysphagia.

24th Licutanil, better, much, can swallow better, redness less,

Cards now a pale pink & smoother - Now the chief difficulty is in talking which comes again right down to the navel. The swelling at the roof of the mouth broke, & thrust behind the velum. It is now quite easy. Cough is better, but the 'craze' in the throat is present. It is less hoarse, voice is clearer, more distinct & occasionally clear.

Sept 9 Very much better, but voice still impaired - O Aug 1 Two abscesses burst in middle of velum & 2 openings remain like the fig. far more natural tone of voice. Sol not aug.

Oct. Admitted ^{up stairs} with dysphagia, cough, ulcer of roof of palate, & very bad - but improved under use of Iod pot &c and on 20th the larynx was better, Cards nearly normal & epiglottis quite so -

24th Much better. Inhaled Sol 3x each wk. Charles Inal -

30th Left Hospital feeling nearly well - but still delicate -

10 Nov Readmitted worse, having rather full neck. Int of larynx & scope out with small ulcer, as in mouth. Then put aug to form & solid put to the latter. 14th Dr Walthermann touched latter with nitric acid. After much dysp^h, she improved under large dose of Iod Pot & Hyd Bichlor.

21st ~~17th~~ Very much better indeed, ulcer healing & free from cough -

 Louisa Haldrook, aged 26, ad out patient 26 May 1885 at West for aphonia & dyspnea 3 weeks. Had Tracheotomy done 3 weeks ago for specific Croupitis. On 30th I examined her at my poor house & found a mere stump of an epiglottis, & chronic inflamⁿ & swelling of the larynx. I admitted her at once under Mr Haldrook & again examined her in the wards on 2 June (Lined at 7th Pye St.) She had had ^{inflammation of some of the pupils -} severe dyspnea night before - June 3rd Mr H. performed tracheotomy with great relief & she immediately became better & easier - 28th Tube was taken out & she went out on 30th rather poorly & not breathing very well - 10th She was better, but a swelling had formed on skin at base of right neck over & above the clavicle, surface red, tender. Cat Lined Re-admitted on , and Tracheotomy done a third time -

Sept 26 Came under me as out patient with mild bronchitis - Lined 16 Rochester Row -

July 30 ¹⁸⁶⁷ Has been pretty well 18 mos, & took the tube out last Augt - Was at Portsmouth some time - Looks well & stout, voice is hoarse though audible, & she swallows well. Cam for a Tonic.

June 23 ¹⁸⁶⁸ Lined at Rackney Wick & looks very well, voice good but a little rough at times. Has not worn tube 15 mos. Some fresh ulcer in throat, applied nit acid & dysphagia 1 month, had sore throat since & was - occasionally losing her voice, but can swallow both fluid & solids with great difficulty. Has swelling in left side of neck, apparently extending to the oesophagus. - Just Pat Ind Lin Bellad.

She got better & swallowed easier until June 10 when it had got bad again & has a pain between the shoulders when the food goes down, or the saliva. There is a distinct swelling at side of left part of trachea, at inner side of Sterno clido mastoid muscle. Has much expectoration but no cough.
It keeps continually coming without coughing - If she catches it's streaked with blood. How can swallow fluids better than solids, latter keep coming back. Larynx about normal but a little oedema commencing of arytenoids. Swelling in neck hard, only commenced shortly before she came to the hospital - no ulcer of pharynx seen, but much congestion & irritability -

Mrs O'Shaughnessy aged 50, came June 27th 1865 with a note from Mr Thomas L. Read of 11 Petersham Terrace South Kensington W, introduced to me by Dr Gaddard Rogers.
 He stated she was a poor woman, could afford some time wth Chrm Laryngites. She wd not go to the Hospital & he should like to have my opinion of her case. Is a laundress & was accompanied by Mrs Cunningham of 4 Vicarage Place, ^{close by;} Patient lives at Holland Place, Kensington, near the old church there.
History - Has had a neglected cough all the winter, & 9 weeks ago saw throat, & was attended by Mr Read (who she says sd it was quinsy at first & then diphtheria) Has now great dysphagia, but can get down a little arrowroot, but not beef tea or ordinary fluid. Has had aphonia the whole of weeks.
 Family all healthy, except her mother who died of cancer of the breast when she was quite a child. Has one son, a servant in Germany. Now A hard & swollen submaxillary gland of left & a smaller on right side of neck, beneath the angle of jaw, & they pain her very much. Has much pain at the p^orum when she swallows & a great deal of phlegm comes, at first was white, now slimy & is a little purulent.
 Losing flesh fast as she takes no nourishment, unless a push off, & voice a low whisper - attacks of dyspnoea

^{very} Chut narrow, dull both sides anteriorly, tubercles becoming deposited rather extensively.

Larynx ~~very~~ great irritability & strangling during the examination, & much secretion pouring out from the Valleculae & interior of the larynx. Epiglottis greatly thickened, enlarged & inflamed, and much ulceration within the larynx involving the true Vocal cords, as near as could be made out. Back of fauces much congested.

Prognosis bad. Chut & larynx together & liability to cancer.
 28th wrote to Mr Reed & advised 10gr doses Br Am t. d.

Eustace Schulze aged 26, sent to me July 8th 1865 by Mr J. I. Ashton of 31 Canendish Square. He is in the employ of Mr Nicholays father. In middle of last March had a little tickling in the throat, followed by shivering with cough. Then dyspnoea & pain in right chest, with expectoration after. His voice was hoarse. I went to the Dispensary for Dis of Throat. & Mackenzie said he had congestion of the larynx for 5 weeks could not utter a sound. He lost much flesh & was after under a Dr & took ol. Marsh & Steelmix & inhalⁿ of hot steam. & gradually his voice improved, but is hoarse still. His chest & dyspnoea are better. Was always healthy before that. Coughs in mornings with green & yellow expectoration -

But no active disease apparent -

Maria Keyes aged 42, ad 22 August 1865. Lives 4 Abbey Place Little Caranah St, W.C. Was first ill last Nov 12 months - married & mother of 11 Children, last born 13 mos ago, attended by Dr Richards & had severe time of it. He, she says, never saw such a bad case with throat & labour together. Illness began with dizziness & a sore throat, had frightful dysphagia; now is obliged to drink with what she swallows & sometimes it lodges in her nose. Voice totally lost for 3 mos. Complaint attributed entirely to a cold, sometimes has pains in her shoulders, across the back. Sleep so so, good & bad. Dysphagia has been bad from the beginning but worse than it is now. It was not until last winter that Rhinophonia occurred. Was in nursing Cat. Hosp 6 weeks, 12 mos ago, for her throat, they did not use the larynx scope. Always suffered much for her ears, was deaf, but the hearing has returned. Has been almost starved from the dysphagia.
 Odour from throat is very offensive. The left side of the lower jaw, ramus & angle much swollen from pericostitis, right was so too, but not now; sometimes on left side tis like a gathering, it throbs, throbs & pains so.

Laryngoscopy. Uvula quite destroyed with a large piece of soft palate lying in triangular form bet, with an opening on each side, with elongating material, as if lanced; the left tonsil projects across, & is flat.

as in Fig 1. There is much penumbral discharge, from back of nose & the throat. Epiglottis is $\frac{3}{4}$ the destroyed, being represented by a wide fold on left side and tubercle on the right. Both false cords swollen & irregular, forming an upper pharynx. The true Vocal cords are not seen. The right arytenoid cartilage is present & more distinct than the left which is altered in position. Much secretion, mucopurulent is present.

Elizabeth Edwards, aged 7 weeks, ad Aug 22nd 1865 with her mother for a Bright deep crimson Cutaneous naevus, occupying the left temple & cheek & eyelid in a line with the front of the ear. It came or first appeared when 2 weeks old, & now is of diameter 2 inches irregularly. Mother had flooding & has had but little milk for the child, who is spoiled as well. The mother was ordered $\frac{3}{4}$ pint acid Citric t. d & the Naevus was painted with Tro of Iod. 25th She can open the eye better to day & the perineal redness is less & not so intense. 29th It is still less on the posterior part near the ear, but the skin is desquamating & rather tender. The Iodine was again applied as on 25th. Mr Halliwell saw her after it was painted. Sept 19. On my return from the country more than $\frac{1}{2}$ was now quite white & red diminishing. Oct 10 & 17 I applied Sal but only, because the Iod had made the skin very tender & sore, & the applⁿ of 10th had already done good.

Housewife in a young woman, for some years, of a mild character, depended upon no appreciable lesion beyond a little swelling of the false cords, & arytenoids. I suspected pulmonary mischief.

Another Case of Loos of Uvula & Velum and hoarseness - for 6 years - no doubt due to specific influence.

There was partial loss of the epiglottis, with a distinct perforation of its right side, but not now ulcerated. The left Vocal cord normal, the right irregular. Both false cords irregular & a little swollen & projecting, & very active in encroaching upon the glottis - nothing now active, but the remains of what there was -

A third case, I suspect, but I believe nothing beyond some little congestion & relaxation of muc. mem.

for first case record had am in small doses, patient was a nice looking girl, never before treated -

Saw all three at Mr Claxtons, Colman Row 10 - with his partner Mr Bartlett, Dr Warden, Mr Bracey mentioned in my book, & 2 or 3 others -

I performed Autolaryngoscopy & examined them all -

Wm Thornton, no 32, on Sunday 24 September 1865 I examined at the Bethnall House Asylum of St Millers.

He had cut his throat about Sept 1864 & was a patient in Guy's & was admitted after into the Asylum saying mad. He was fed with fluids when he first came & swallowed freely but with a little difficulty, no choking or coughing. His father committed suicide. He could ejaculate but not articulate & was half-stupid, he could say yes. There was complete severance of the Thyro-hyoid membrane, but not the ligaments, so that the larynx hung down low in the neck, with a wide space between the cartilage above. Laryngoscopy with sun light, easy, in presence of St Davidson, St Miller being absent. The epiglottis was all gone & a cicatrix occupied the position of the cut valve, with a little reddish tubercle on the left side. He spat out the epiglottis when it was cut off with a razor. The larynx was twisted a little towards the right. Both Vocal Cords were intact & so was all the larynx & the arytenoids approximate in uttering sounds. The muc: mem: had a dirty colour, & the larynx looked as if voice did not much exercise it. It was quite clear that in deglutition the ary-epiglottic folds laterally met & were covered over by the back of the tongue, so that food readily slipped into the Lac of the pharynx. The case was interesting and instructive & the first of the kind I had examined with the laryngoscope, altho I had often met them passing in the Hospitals of London.

Emma Thurston continued from Vol 4 page 428 - of them here & there, & the view was most distinct - The ventricular apex was a little contracted, & I have no doubt this condition extended throughout the folds of both. He was treated by inhalation of spray of Zinc wh Charles with decided advantage, for his voice became almost natural for 2 or 3 days after, but relapsed again for on Oct 3. he was still my house. He was to leave for New Zealand on the 6th & therefore I considered the sea air & spray as likely to bring about a cure - signed a paper for him on 5th - Thirza Freeman aged 34, ad 26 Sept 1885 Sunday St. Palfrey.

 Married - 1 child of 12 years - Is tall & delicate looking, with
 - phthiric family history -

Sore throat on & off 3 months, feels sore, but has attacks of retching 2 or 3 times a day, even in the street - has cough & is husky at times. Laid nothing beyond congestion on Oct 4th. 26th was put on Swift's Pul. Cod but Carmin at 3 1/2 t. d.

Sample of Allen -

Ellen Beatty aged 33, ad Septem 1865 for acute peritonitis of the left side. 2 Saunders Pl, Saunders St, Union St, Lambeth Walk. But was formerly under my care with the disease. Has now Rhinophonia, & adhesion of remans the velum to pharynx especially on the left side.

Mrs ^{Paxman} ~~Gibbs~~ act 19, ad end of Septem 1865, but exam'd again on Oct 30. 2 children - married to man over 40 - Catamenia appear regularly since husband left $3\frac{1}{2}$ mos ago, & I can detect no child per vaginam or belly. Father is Mr Gibbs, wheelwright Gictwoley, West Drayton, Middlesex.

Charlotte Gilbert aged 55, ad Sept 25. 1865 into Hallett Ward. of Goxford, Suffolk. Married. Difficulty in swallowing 4 or 5 mos. Now can scarcely get either fluid or solid food down - Is constantly hemming & food comes out of nose - Voice is perfect & breathes easy unless at night when she is nearby choked & pain shoots from the ears to the throat - I getting very thin - Saw on 26th with sun light, & found ulceration of pharyngeal surface of cricoid cartilage, with contraction of the pharynx low down, & oedema of arytenoids -

Oct 6. Much expect of pus & blood from the throat, & hemming more frequent. Takes little or no food. To be helped by the bowel, & to have an I. R. tube to suck food into the mouth - Placed under my care thro D^r Fiddle Bird - 10th Was much pus & smelling of the neck from extension of the malig disease, esp on the left side - Ulcer well seen by sun light extending to the left aryte-noid cartilage. Great difficulty in swallowing at all - 12th Consul^r held as to advisability of oesophagotomy but the case was not suitable, from infill^m of the structure. Mr Brooke passed down a catheter, which permitted her to swallow a cupful of milk. 13th To day was a little better, but the neck felt sore from the handling yesterday - 17th The foul smelling of the neck is increasing & is harder, altho she swallows a little better - but is very weak -

39 Structure of oesophagus -

Robert Grayson, aet 43, ad Oct 5th 1865 Sunday Dr Chambers of Sutherland St, who has passed a bougie 2 or 3 times - Coming gradually for some time, can eat any solid food since 3rd - To day Mr Hamken passed in a bougie - 1/4 pint Carn. 3/4 p. An Bromid pr x. t. d. -

Went on quite well up to 12th whilst he had medicine, & swallowed easy, but he then feels little obstruction below.
13th To day I passed down a large bougie without any obstruction at all, into the stomach - Pt. well -

17th Is still had again & swallowed no food last 2 days -

20th He fasted since 15th, but on evening of 18th recovered power of swallowing on something going way in the mouth, & he is a great deal better. Dr Chambers thinks there is swelling of the oesophagus. Reft must ask he likes -

Nov 7. Has fasted since 4th, having been better up to then. I passed 2 large bougies without effect, but stopped at lower end of tube, but got in a No 2, through it - It is probably now a true stricture. 1/4 stick 8 or 1/12 1/2 For 4 or 5 x 1/2 of mouth 3/4 t. d. 1/6

14th A little better, but had to change food to the 1st mix prescribed -

Dec 8 Better since last visit up to yesterday - Dysphagia then came on again & he could eat nothing - To day he is better again

Mary Anne Pritchard, aged ^{ab} 26, ad Oct 13th 1865 with irritation, ulcer (not specific) & indurⁿ of Vagina at the entrance. Ant & post 7. She had been under my care about 2 years ago, for urethritis & indurⁿ, for which she was admitted as an in patient under Dr Bird.

Lives at 18 Great George Street - exam^d in presence of 1 of the pupils. Small vagina & well formed external parts - Oct 31 Called on her & found her very much better.

Oct 20. Is feebler & feebler, retains the enemata only a very short time now - A catheter would not pass through the stricture & there is much bloody offensive discharge. Pulse almost thready - 28th extremely emaciated & weak & left the hospital to go home to die - Front of neck was very prominent & painful down to the clavicles, and an offensive odour came from the mouth & throat.

Path Exam Vol 17

Miss Eliza Chalmers aged 41, ad Oct 18. 1865 recd by Mr Isaac Hagg, under whom she was for her eyes -

Bad throat since 1843. Was a continued expectⁿ of mucus from the root of the neck. Has no regular cough. Throat feels dry & parched; health bad since 1843. Has little much & cannot pain. At times much pain at root of neck. 15 years ago uvula cut. Had dysphagia at birth.

Larynx. nothing but simple relaxⁿ in fauces & nose - pharynx rather dry & velum & uvula rather flabby. Appetite hard & has got thinner. had halfⁿ of the heart. wrote to Mr Hagg & suggested small doses of Iodine & mixed astringent gargle - 21st I prescribed Borax gargle by letter.

Dec 11 she wrote from Chillingham, nr Pelmarth Sussex, she was wretched, & when she coughed, it was like of 2 or 3 or 4 but not 5 or 6
in and 7 or 8
Apr ad 8 -
C. May. F. d. tearing the flesh off the throat. Throat is painful when she talks or reads.
14 gargle & speak & read as little as possible.

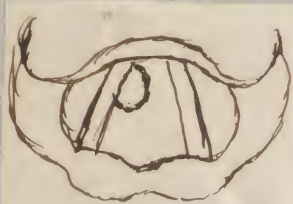

ms Reed age 44, sent me Oct 23. 1885 by Dr H G Wustell she is nurse at the Samaritan Hospital Long Street - and has had aphonia on & off for 5 years, beginning with Bronchitis.
Tongue very large, but a little congestion of larynx was seen and some tracheitis. U & Mix Rect &c - Mr I made attempt at removal of Sam Wustell in form of Dr

47

Sarah Williams, aet 25, ad Oct 17 under S Radcliffe - Married. Bad throat 6 mos - and again that time set down to Chron laryngitis. Had slight cough 12 mos, but had for 6 mos. 20th Lar. partly pendul epiglottis with ^{great} thickening & ulcer of the swollen upper edge, the forerunner of acute tuberculosis. Superficial ulcer of the larynx - Shown but not - 28th Inhab of 1st 3rd Lar. with Clarke 27th About the same 31st Very draughty ward, no improvement - Nov 3 Lar. in presence of S Radcliffe, Killman & others, & showed the scraped out & checked ulcer epiglottis, characteristic of pulmonary disease; & on exam the chest was found largely dull from tubercles - 7th Is certainly better. less dysphagia & soreness. Rept Aug Shomer - 14th Ulcer & thickening of epiglottis is less. Rept Aug. ^{Shaw has been conducting} & others - Dec 5. Left to become out patient - a patient of Dr. Savage.

Ann Fitzgerald ad 32, exam Oct 27th 1865 sent me by Dr. Parsons & Vail gone for upwards of 7 mos. Had slight cough & violent pains in stomach & 6 mos pregnant. Originally lost on by hunger, & almost no clothing, tho she had husband - & if it had not been for Lady Baker wd have died. Last winter had terribly severe Rheum, hands swollen up & inflamed for 3 weeks - Saw a warty growth attached to anterior free border of right vocal cord as seen in the sketch, which does not prevent closure of glottis, but does of vibration - wrote Dr. P. about it - 9th Made attempt at removal of Mass in presence of Dr. Savage & Parsons - 15th Examined her again -

GALVANISM V. THROAT DISEASES.
 T. PULVERMACHER'S VOLTA-ELECTRIC CHAIN-PANDE.
 Necklases. George Duncan Gibb, Bart., M.D., Physician to Westminster Hospital, writes, in his "Treatise on Diseases of the Throat,"—"In many cases where the voice has been restored by galvanism, applied in the manner described, the patient can be obviated by wearing one of Pulvermacher's necklases round the neck, which keeps up a mild, continuous stream of electricity, and is extremely beneficial, and renders the voice permanent." A few describes will illustrate the treatment." (Here the author describes several successful cases in support of this.)

1 year had sore throat, hoarseness & dysphagia. 5 weeks ago voice quite went away. Has been in bad health 2 years, beginning in a violent cold.
Gets black in the face, on stooping, excitement or any exertion. Now her face is of a deep crimson red & the veins on each side of the neck are distended to the size of the little finger. On right side above the clavicle is a puff, swelling. Never had rheumatism, nor disease of the heart, lips are bluish. Breathing noisy but not stridulous. No family.

Larynx Enlargement of Veins of the larynx & great congestion of the fauces; much irritability of the larynx, left Vocal Cord, on a lower plane than the right & somewhat congested; right V.C. normal & white.
Lungs moist, but apertures of both Ventricles closed; a swelling on both sides, smooth on right, irregular on left, somewhat coarse in character, below the trachea - Chest Sound heard on left clavicle, upper chest, below, & on the left side & over the heart with (st. sound) No absolute dulceness, but I suspect an aneurism of the aorta compressing the pulmonary artery, or perhaps communicating with it. The Veins of the arm are enlarged, not those of the chest.

Success of the Septum nasi from a Blow.

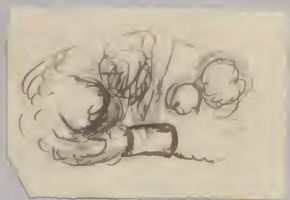

A woman, aged about 40, presented herself 9 Octob 1876, complaining of impossibility of breathing through either nostril, and as the outside of the nose on either side was a little swollen, at 1st sight I suspected a polypus. On examining her I found that the smelly in the nostril on each side came from the septum, and as she was quite well up to a week before when she received a blow on the nose with the fist of her husband, it must be an abscess. Fluctuation was not felt, the parts were so tense. My colleague Dr Heath pushed a knife into it, & out came the matter with immediate relief. A men from behind, before this revealed nothing - ca Elizabeth Page, aged , was sent to me by Mr J. Holmes of St aus Guy's Hospital, & I had her admitted into Westminster Hospital, on ex April 30. 1867 under Dr Fitcham.

ca Mr Holmes wrote, she had been in St Guy's a long time under him, & at King's Col under Dr Johnson for aphonia, without any relief. When he 1st saw her she had a good deal of Chron Laryngitis with occasional very severe attacks of dyspnoea, so that the ^{Harris} Surgeon was at 1 time on the point of performing tracheot
 omy. (It was done on her sister at RCH) The appearance of Chron inflammation 10. Chief was also very distinct at that time both about the cause & extent of epiglottitis. Having failed to afford her any relief himself, & stating a good deal of interest in her case, he recommended me to apply to me.

by Examⁿ. Complete paralysis of larynx Vocal cords, but no appa rent disease - whisper almost inaudible. She was treated by Dr Fitcham, without benefit, & left on 3 June 1867. Laryngism locally was not used, as it was done for me by Dr Johnson.

June 4. Larynx normal, with more action in the vocal cords, & can hear loudly - Admitted her to go into West London Hosp. as she resides at Hammersmith -

Mrs. McBay, aged 43, admitted June 7. 1867 into Westward Hall and by letter by Mr. Andrew Stern.

Amputation 9 years, & wisdom all that time, is gone.
 Had her left arm squeezed some months ago, & it sometimes swells so as to become blind - the veins on left side of front of the chest are large & tortuous, indicating difficult circulation.

Is stout & plethoric. Remains of a scar on left arm -

Aug 9 Arm very much better in every way. But the right hand has become swollen & edematous in dorsum. for which I ordered Lot P. B. Diast 3j ad Oj - 1st time -

Oct 15 Arm is quite well, but right hand is swollen in middle of palm & dorsum arched as if from deep seated mischief.

Lot of Mercur 3j ad Oj Aqua - 1st time -

2nd time better. Swelling coming to a point on the dorsum -

Dec 16 Swelling greatly gone down, a little induration in middle of palm, dorsum roundish, no pain, can flex fingers but can't see.

 July 1 The hand suppurated back of wrist, healed, & again suppurated to the outer side, where there is a large opening with central granulation. Otherwise it's well, & her health is perfect - ca Henry John Lloyd, aged 12 last Dec, was admitted June 11. 1867 in our St. Charles Ward, West Wash. Lives 6 River Hall, St. Wardsmouth ex Road. Had measles 8 yrs ago, and since then never had ca his speech perfectly. Has been hoarse & almost voiceless 10 mos.

 & breathes with a noise of wheezing, especially loud at night.
 Eats well & drinks cold water well. But warm broth or tea, or anything warm he cannot get down. Eats heartily.

Is quite hoarse, sometimes completely aphonic.

10 Was 6 mos at St Thomas Wash. Hospital &c, but dis. never was made out. of Lary. Throat normal, cords relaxed. Epiglottis nearly wholly pendant & irregular. With effort intum. glaynx seen. Both ary-epiglottids greatly swollen, especially the left. A growth seen between the vocal cords, springing from subglottic space, somewhat irregular in shape, size of a good pea. Intum. glaynx irregular & uneven, not smooth. Vocal cords normal as well as could be made out.

14th The tongue was held out by W. Alfred Dickenson, and on the way first introduction of the Larynx a small growth was quickly en-and withdrawn in the loop of wire. The mere trace of bleeding caused no further attempts were made, as there was now some irritability.

The small growth removed was situated upon the left vocal cord near its origin - 18 made some attempts to pass the recorder down, but the epiglottis the moment of contact a passing sound closure of upper aperture of the larynx, & they were fruitless.

21st Was more successful & removed small fragments, & broke up the growth from between the origin of the cords. 25th This was repeated with similar success. 26th Examined him in the wards with direct light, & showed his larynx to Mr. Halthouse & a number of the pupils. The larynx was tolerably free, & he had some voice, could call out "John" much louder than heretofore. There was too much tenderness to attempt anything to day.

28th Discharged as he was an out patient.

July 1 His voice was now loud with gruff tone. Epiglottis completely pendulous. Spoke of Frank Clarke & people of Alameda who & Foxes.

Mrs Ann Boekle, aged 46, came to me June 18th 1867 from Westbury, in Wills, as a gratuitous patient, from Mr Sharland.
 Miss Etta Sharland had already written about her.
 Has suffered nearly 5 yrs with an affection of the throat. Can swallow better than might be expected, but the food wants to lodge at a certain place. Can eat potatoes, thin bread & butter, & can drink pretty well. At 1st suffered from something in left breast & shoulder, the last 2 or 3 years I met with a blow there. Health has always been fair before this. A tickling sometimes occurs with dryness and it makes her cough. 12 mos ago was a patient at the United Hospital at Bath for her breast & shoulder. Voice gets hoarse sometimes. An instrument was passed down the throat once. Heems constantly in a mild manner. Has lost flesh. Voice is some constrained as if muscles diseased, but the breathing is quiet & easy.
 Has pain in left chest, running down the arm & at the apex of the heart occasionally, the upper part of the chest, shoulders & neck are swollen, pain in collar bone, left pulse fuller & stronger than the right, bruit heard in chest above ~~at~~ apex of heart No positive dullness. Arteriovenous expansion.
 Lungs nothing whatever wrong, unless a little congestion of base costal cartilages, no spasm at all, nor much secretion.

20th Chest no special dulness, but great pulsation over upper part of left chest, extending to the right, suspicion of aneurism of the left aorta. Carotids a subclavian, with general enlargement of deep cervical glands & tissues. There is the possibility of cancer, invading the deep seated glands, & extending to the lung, which the progress of the case will determine. Yet there is no actual dyspnoea, altho' great prostration from slight exertion, with weakness.

I passed my large stomach pump tube into the oesophagus without the least obstruction. I advised her to return home & I would write Mr. Shadwell about her.

21st Wrote Mr. Shadwell an A/c of the case & suggested the Mineral Acids with small doses of one of the Bromides (2 grs.) & keeping up the general health. I lean to the supposition of Cancer of lung & neck for reasons given. Prognosis serious.

Examination of Asiatics and Africans at the Home for Asiatics, Paplar, July 25th 1867 with the assistance of Mr F. M. Corner of the Major Home.

I left home at 5 m to 1 & reached his house 152 East India Road a little before $\frac{1}{2}$ past 2. I ate some lunch & was then driven to the Home for Asiatics where all the officials were in readings, & with the able assistance of Mr Freeman, I commenced to work in a small room, with a gas fish tail burner. The people stood & followed the example of one another in undergoing the examination -

He was the remarkable part of pendency of the cartilage in any single person examined, which I certainly was not prepared to encounter. All were males, & 2 females.
 The Bongos men were fine healthy merry fellows, all young & lively, & in them at least I should have expected to have the epiglottis vertical, but it was not so - Mr Freeman the Superintendent was of great service in giving me the various information regarding the individual males. My examination included the entire of the inmates of the home. and as my object chiefly was to ascertain the position of the cartilage, it was readily done with ease, in the entire number, & not a single failure.

Mr W. Bain of Poplar sent a man home day 23rd 1857 at Westminster who was a Club patient of his, suffering from his throat. He had his uvula removed but still had attacks of dyspnoea at night. I found this to depend upon looseness of the pharynx, which was called a narrow above often spoke & act about 32. but Pol. End.

Charles Williams, a young man, on Oct 15th 1857 I removed from him, his left tonsil, with blunt pointed bistoury & pair of long forceps. Been subject long, large tonsils since childhood.
 Fair complexion - Although I removed only one half, the remainder shrivelled up completely within the folds of the uvula.
22nd Although well. I deferred removing the other tonsil.
Novem 26 Removed the ~~left~~ right tonsil with the Tonsillotome in an instant, before a lot of the pupils - A nervous patient, which made he preferred, he unhesitatingly, said that of to day, for there was no pain attending it - Dec 6th He wrote me he was quite well.

Ellen Rose Tyrrell aged 14 weeks, died 14 July 1867 last seen or 9th at Westminster Hosp. Had fits from the age of 5 weeks. died of debility & wasting away.

The mother lives at 5 Bridge St. Westminster.

The fits were attributed to the circumstance of fright of the Mother when pregnant, at the Transformation scenes of one of the Theatres last winter. On such occasions many of the girls and little children go into fits from fright, as they are generally strapped up in the machinery & exposed to the influence of the ~~gas and fire~~ great heat arising from the gas & fire for the substances used. Children get 3 a night. Many of the girls go into hysterics & have epileptic fits.

A man, sent me by McCallum Oct 1. 1887 with hoarseness &c. depended upon swelling of the regulatus of the glottis so as to resemble a sort of flap at its root. I wrote to him about it, & advised spray of Zn of Alum.
 The flap gives rise to spasms, dysphagia & hoarseness.

Margaret Cable, aged 42, was admitted into West Hosp Aug 30. 67 She first caught cold in the end of March last & felt a wheezing in the left side of the chest, & from thence to the throat with a stifling sensation. She caught a second cold end of July, with a chill over her frame, & has been getting worse ever since, the suffocating feeling still existing with a croupy cough. She lives at 28 Wharves Road, ^{New Road,} Battersea, ^{Park.} Sept 3. Some studior - Oct 8. Mist Pol Ind 3pt. & am Bron gr III Oct 26 Is better since being under treatment. To day exam'd her before Dr March at my house. Large harsh swelling of membrane of the fauces & irritability. Epiglottis normal, but subglottis contracted & swollen from external pressure of a tumour lying over the Cricoid cartilage & upper rings of trachea. Left Vocal Cord red & impaired in action, right is white but became on suff congested under examination. Neck. Swelling in both supraclavicular spaces, larger in left, resembling a series of small knotty glands pressing on cervical nerves. Voice decidedly hoarse - & breathing difficult.

 Mist Pol Ind. Mist Part for Cough.

Nov 1 Was better, breathing easier, with less studior, swelling in left space is less. & still improving. Throat is certainly better Voice clearer, less studior. not so much dyspnoea.

15th Running to catch the Train, increased re dyspnoea.
 22nd Ung Plumbic Broudi 10 gr ad 3i to rub over the cervical indurations.
 29th as soon as the Ung was applied she felt a sort of tickling sensation and the swellings have become softer & not so prominent. Both sides a ted towards water ends of clavicles. That is better & voice too, but it feels dry. Cough is better. ^{Last} a brother & sister with phthisis & 4 children not from it. has 1 girl grown up.

Dec 6 Voice much clearer & is going on pretty well - ¹⁸⁶⁸ Jan 3 Muscarrid the other day, between 3 & 4 was gone. Swelling in both triangles completely gone, no indurⁿ, voice clearer. Was much - put her on acid & Gout Mix 3p t.d. Stidor much diminished, scarcely heard.

17th Voice Clear & soft, w^h occasional stidor. As there is a little Cough again at Near 3; this die - besides the Acid & Gout Mix - Was under Dr Sutcliffe Battison, before me with an attack of Croup, w^h explains sub-glottis state -

31st Voice very smooth, ^{natural} and even and breathing easy

February 3. Last. Vocal cords white & swelling gone down in the subglottis, with a slight disposition to spasm - muc. mem^o of a healthy pink in the larynx now. Finest tone of stidor heard. Has a little shooting pain in both triangles, as existed before the occurrence of the former swellings, arising from a little cough she has now. Swelling in part of trachea gone. health pretty good -

May 30 Went to see her, she was in the last stage of phthisis, both lungs, larynx & neck were quite well. Had been on soft condor treat at the Hosp all the winter - June 2 Died early in morning.

Esther King, ad 25, admitted Novem 12th 1867 at West. Hosp. sent me by Dr Shuldham of St West Barrough Maidstone.
 Is a native of Maidstone & has had Aphonia 2 years & 4 mos. Was told by Dr Woodfall there she had a growth in her Vocal Cords. Cat-amenia irregular; cough at times. Has a swelling in the Anterior part of right axilla in Pectoral muscle, attributed to galvanism used.
 Before the Aphonia, Dr S, wrote, "one day she did a very incautious thing that is, interfered between a quarrelling man & wife, the result was, husband's fingers grasped her throat & nearly choked her, & say nothing of attempting to shoot her the moment after, I consequently feared there might be dislocation of one of the Cartilages, or perhaps a fracture of the thyroid, as the throat symptoms followed closely on the violence" She had been under a good many without any relief. She says feels a good deal of pain in the throat, besides loss of voice. Also pain in right shoulder extending to the right mamma, attributed to the use of galvanism. Early at Hospital in pain of several of the joints.
 No growth to be seen. Vocal Cords natural, but with loss of power for they would not approximate & as the Larynx was healthy the aphonia is functional. On 14th I wrote my opinion to Dr S, &

Villiform wart on Velum to left of root of uvula. 158

Allan McCarthy, aged 16, brought me Novem 29th 1867 at Westminster Hospital by his mother. Has had scurvy on the face his mother says. Has noticed something growing on his throat, a tumor she said, 2 months, he could feel it with his finger. On examination, a villous wart was seen growing on the anterior surface of the soft palate close to the base of the uvula, in the angle there between it & the velum. It was flattened like a Condylomatus wart. Acedard was applied with a small brush when it was found to have a smallish pedicle holding it. Sketch of it see. On 30th I removed it with a pair of forceps & pair of scissors, & a little bleeding followed. Its distinct warty villous character was unmistakable. No pain from it. To use an Alum pencil. Health otherwise perfect. Came home with his mother.

159 Doubtful Dumbness in a Soldier.

Jappa Thomas, act 19, sent to me Decem 4th 1867 at my residence by Dr Balfour Cocksburn R.E.

"1 year service. Admitted into Hospital 17 June 1867. discharged 21 October. States he has lost 2 out of 10 brothers from Rheumatic fever. Has had rheumatic ²erratic pains for the last 12 months. Had gonorrhoea 17 months ago and a lobo 14 months, but has never had a venereal ulcer. 2½ years ago received a blow from a stick on the back of his head which rendered him insensible, got about in a couple of days, but 6 months after was seized with a fit. he has had 4 of these fits. Previous to admission he had been cleaned & under treatment at Bishop's Castle Shropshire for these pains."

Such was the of handed me by Dr C, who wrote me on 18 Nov from Chatham about this man - a fine healthy lad, a tailor. admitted in Hosp complaining of pain about his shoulders & back some 5 months before. The morning after admission on going to his bedside he presented the Dr with a piece of paper on which he had written that during the night he had had a fit and on awaking in the morning he found he had lost all power of speech. Dr C examined him with the Laryngoscope, & thought there was paralysis of Vocal cords, but he doubted it. He gave him Iod pot, Strychnine, Iron, Galvanism, Counter irritants & chloroform to a certain extent, but without the least benefit. When asked to do his best to utter a word, he opens & shuts his mouth, the tongue falling on the floor of the mouth. He makes not the slightest attempt to fan a word with his lips or cheeks or tongue. S^r C was almost certain the man was a schemer.

About 3 weeks ago he sent him out of Hospital & had him employed in the tailor's shop in hopes that he might possibly get drunk but unfortunately the man is or says he is a teetotaler. The Regimental Authorities are getting tired of this man & wish the S^r to discharge him from the service, but he is loathe to do this yet. He then asked me to allow him to bring him up some morning for my opinion on his case. But J. W. C. Venn urged him to do so. I wrote back to say I would be very glad to do so.

Examination. A fine healthy looking young soldier, well in every respect, except perfect dumbness, not able even to whisper. Larynx perfectly normal; a little relaxation of voice membrane & no rest compression from the cold weather. Reminds a little of a boy with Claude. Vocal cords normal & approximate well and evenly, with good action of arytenoids. Can cough and hem. He holds his chest fixed as much as he can, so that the larynx is a single open tube with no motion in the cords, in the act of in & expiration. However in making him relax this, the action of the cords is well seen. He can't whisper because he will not close the mouth or use the tongue, but he made a few sounds like whiss. There is a congenital semi projecting state of the condyles of the lower jaw, which project antwards when the mouth is opened. I believe the man to be a Schemer.

I suggested the use of Chloroform & insensibility. & large doses (2i) of Bromide of Am or Pot, to overcome the state of nervous abstinence, giving rise to the impasture.

Mrs Tomkins, aged 28, admitted 1868 at Westchester.

Came to my house for examⁿ March 31st.

Feels a soft substance in left side, very painful for several weeks. Was ill after both her confinements & passed urine like pus. Been 2½ years at Maidenstone. No cough, but if she does cough, the pain is dreadful in her side. Urine is clearer now than it was. Worked for some years at a Sewing Machine. The tumour in the belly came on apparently after her 2nd child's birth but it seemed to be dispersed after the birth of her third child 4 mos ago. Now there is a large & hard tumour in the left iliac region, painful, as big as an infant's head, apparently coming from the splenic region; no bowel is above or to the left of it; it is irregular but distinct & readily felt. She looks delicate & has lost a great deal of flesh. Pains have lately been terrible. She eats well. Pulse sharp & irritable. Shivers at times. Was regularly unwell whilst carrying her last baby, but it was a little only.

Her mother came with her, they live no 10 Soho Square. Mother has lost several girls with a similar complaint & lost her husband by doing through a cold.

Has been ill since last Oct 12 mas, & has had complete Aphonia the last 4 mas. but before that the voice was fleeting - Had inflamⁿ of larynx throughout at the beginning & cough throughout. General health pained up to illness. Expectoration green, lost flesh & strength, colour like marble, has turned the head from side to side to swallow; has pain in the throat. She feels well about the throat to day free from sauciness Larynx. Ulceration with irregular elevations of the back of the larynx, not involving arytenoids.

Chest deposition & softening of tubercle on back of posterior part of left lung, extending round to the side. Ruses crepitation rales there abundant. Stomach very irritable, cannot take solid food. I ordered Glyster in egg in Milk - & wrote Dr Wright as to the case -

169 oval fibrous exudation from the subglottis -

Henry Tester, aged 45, came to me Jan 26th 1868 at Westminster with a note from Dr Aldis, dated Chester & Jan 23rd, asking my opinion of his patient, at Surrey Dispensary, who suffers much from expectoration, which is exceedingly tough & becomes as hard as glue. I examined him at my own house on 30th -

For 15 years has had occasional difficult expectoration, but more this last winter & the one before. Coughs but little, but he feels there is something that he wants to get rid of from the root of the neck. And after he gets rid of it he feels a roughness at the sternum & is all of a tremble with pains on either side of the chest. He sleeps pretty well & the moment he wakes he begins to cough & sometimes it comes away without any trouble. The dyspnea feels at the sternum after its expulsion; he becomes a good deal better of it. Is a wheelwright & exposed to the dust & smoke from his forge. He feels as if electrified after expelling the piece of tough stuff. Appetite & digestion not good, is puffed up with wind. Early morning normal, but in the subglottis is a circle of ^{reddish} excoriation corresponding to the ring of the cricoid which secures the fibrous oval shaped pellet the cause of all his trouble. It is not a true ulcer but an excoriation. used the spray of Dr wh Clarke & prescribed it in his Dispensary letter, with a mixture as on next page -

Dec 4. Has not been so well for 20 years, can now make well which he could not do before; has a little cough & cold & some rheumatism in hands. Had Rheumatic Gout at 16. Once in a while a piece comes away, but his throat is quite well. He used to be as if he did not know whether he would be choked or not.

Last. Swelling gone down in subglottis, no redness &c, all natural Miss Partridge, aged 38, consulted me July 23rd 1868. Lives at Bung W. Edmunds. Complexion dark. Gratis patient.

 Has had heart disease 10 years. Now disease is in her throat.
 Was at Seaside last week. Had bronchitis 3 times since Jan^y of 3 weeks each, strength quite gone. Coughs constantly & not much expectation. Very much anemic - no dysphagia.
 Has to work hard. Health otherwise good. Takes rum & milk in many. Never any tea - never had rheumatism. Had chronic indigestion 10 years ago & left side swelled out. Liver complaints are in the family. Mother has fine constitution. Action of heart rather quick, from tremendous hemorrhage from the bowels 8 yrs ago. Breath sounds clear - no dulness - Always constant tickling in the throat & perspires at night independent of the heat. Used to be stout & robust. Voice good.
 Larynx just relaxed of movement of fauces & larynx normal.

Harriet Clark aged 20. Sunday May ^{2nd} ~~18th~~ 1888

I examined at the Hosp, a girl under Mr. Hillman, with dyspnoea - used laryngoscope with Sun light. The glottis was clear, & vocal cords seemed normal.

The Respirators (false cords) were swollen & gradually increasing from tuberculous deposit, not ordinary oedema. The epiglottis was quite normal. Administered Tracheotomy in a day or so if dyspnoea increased - This was done on Tuesday 28th with great relief. She had been under Dr. Maest at the Hosp for Consumption.

On 7th Aug 1868 I examined a girl in Arden Ward, with Laryngoscope with sunlight, for a pin lodged low down on left side of base of pharynx.
Could not see it. But felt something like it with finger.
11th I felt it again, but did not use the mirror -

John Kempster, aged 58, admitted in May 1885. Has been hoarse & dysphonic since end of March, not from a cold, but came of itself all of a sudden. Health perfect in all other respects. Impaired under Larynx - Indistinct - &c.

Aug 13. Larynx shows Vocal cords normal, but muc: memb: flabby, loose relaxed & a little congested - Vocal loose & lax, though hardly humiliated years ago - On utterance of sounds with intensity, the cords diverge fully at their origin & then assume the usual triangle. There is therefore a reversal of the triangle, from impairment of minute fibres of anterior part of thyroarytenoid muscles - apparent dis of Chest. To day Jan 5. 69 she brought small Calcareous bodies like split peas she expectorated after severe Coughing - Had done so before -

Henry Smith, aged 30, was sent me January 7th 1869 with a letter from Mr F McCorner of Paplar, who wrote that the bearer consulted him last night & thought his condition such as not to justify him in taking him under management whilst any special skill was attainable. He would pay me a consulting fee. & would like to be into hospital under my care. He was disposed to take him into the Paplar Hospital, & if necessary open the trachea, but could not trust his diagnostic powers with Laryngoscope to decide what lesion existed in larynx, & felt that was a most important question in his case -

On arriving I found great dyspnoea, noisy obstructive breathing, croupy cough, flushed pneumonic face, great anxiety & good speech & voice. Had been 6 mos ill. following a cold in India. Been wet for years at the diggings - Obtaining a strong young man, with a large & prominent thyroid Cartilage & the structures of the neck quite thin -

Larynx very easy. Epiglottis quite normal, & so was the larynx above the vocal cords. The glottis was fixed and motionless, both Vocal cords natural colour & healthy, but paralysed in action from disease below the left side, where could be seen a globular swelling extending across from beneath the left vocal cord across to the right side, it was of a deep pinkish red, & was clearly oedema of the left sub-glottic space. The space for breathing was so narrow, & likely to become every minute more so that I had him at once admitted into Westminster Hospital in Ward, under the care of Mr Hallhouse & myself, and I laid down then in time to sleep at the operation of Tracheotomy, at 2 O'clock. The sketch above shows the laryngoscopic appearances. The operation was difficult & tedious because he had frequently lost up & got breath, & Chloroform was quite out of the question.

The severe pain in left side of chest, weak pulse, cough & other symptoms immediately improved after wards -

This was one of those cases of Subglottic infiltration from acute inflammation in that situation described in my lecture on the throat, where tracheotomy only can be performed -

8th He has gone on uninterruptedly well without a single untoward symptom, & has taken more nourishment than he had done for 3 weeks, so he said. Speaks well with his finger on the tube & can do so even without that - Is taking beef tea, brandy & water &c. His pulse is good but a little quick.

12th The tube was taken out on 9th to be clean, & 14 attempts were made to return it, & it was accomplished only after enlarging the opening. He was poorly in consequence; the SE wind too had evidently blown him back somewhat. Was in another ward.

- 19th Sitting up near the fire, & voice pretty good. Breathing had got since 11th - all irritⁿ about the tube subsided - Pulse fair, good - The oedema of subglottis has no doubt subsided to some extent - Eats pretty well - But little cough -
- 22nd Feels very well, voice stronger still, but although he eats & sleeps well, he is getting very thin; the mix was therefore stopped & he was put on some Ol Meark on 21st - 26th Already is stouter & Saphel's getting fat, much felt better in his life. Breathes upwards -
- 29th Some granulations at lower part of tracheal wound. Saph showed considerable subsidence of the upper part of the oedematous swelling on left side & a little more widening of the glottis with slight action of the vocal cords. A little swelling was now seen low down on the right side of ^{3rd} ~~the~~ glottis. Voice pretty good, & general health improving -
- Feb 2 Going on uncommonly well - Coughs upwards by the throat -
- 5th Sits up & speaks well, & at times breathes freely upwards -
- 9th Breathes for 2 or 3 hours at a time with his finger at the tube, showing the passage is clearing upwards -
- March 2 Saph wh. Sun light, & found the glottis wider, & could see the tube. His voice was pretty good & health perfect
- March 12 On 8th an abscess burst below the larynx & some discharge of pus passed up with great relief to his breathing upwards. Saph today showed the subglottis wider & clearer - Has some catarrh -
- 29th Epiglottis rather pendulous; glottis a little wider but parts not

195

The clear below. Voice good - Abscesses formed external to the thyroid cartilage & burst internally. Weather against him. 2 years ago he had several blows in throat, was hoarse, & a little blood after it.

April 8 Lary showed still rather a narrow glottis from a cold 13th left the Hospital a few days before I last saw him. He is now very much better for last 3 days, breathes freer by the month; is 10 times better he says than when in the hospital. Some pus comes up by the month as well as at side of the tube.

27th Passed some blood by month a 18th & several times since & has a little sickness in swallowing, but it does not prevent him from eating. Lary general improvement in all the parts - voice fairly good -

May 14 Sails a 15th for Melbourne as a Sailor, ^{before the month} Is pretty well now & no more blood. Sometimes he breathes so well upwards that he can do so for hours at a time & stops up mouth of tube. Lary shows the glottis to be almost wholly clear, except a little bright side behind. Epiglottis elevates itself well. Give him a letter to show any medical man of the nature of his complaint. He says he drinks sometimes - & then is always worse -

Dec 16. 1870 Portland. He wrote me that he had enjoyed good health ever since the operation, he enjoyed the voyage to Australasia, there he staid 6 mos & then proceeded to California. He went through the mountains up to the mines, passed into the interior & arrived at Portland, Oregon. Whilst on his way thro Oregon he met with a severe accident.

Alfred Green, aged 27, presented himself Febury 9th 1869 from Exmouth, Devon, sent up by J. Plimsoll, M.D., R.N.

He caught cold on a Railway platform 12 mos^{before} last August, when was at first attended with Aphonia. There was Pneumonia chiefly induced by inordinate use of the voice in open air, as a preacher. He is a shoemaker. (S.P. is a retired Surgeon, at 3 Clarence Rd, Exmouth.) S.P. says his countenance denotes a tendency to phthisis. His voice has greatly improved of late from tobacco smoking; but it varies, some times so much better, & at other much worse. Nature of other & many Inspection. His chest is rachitic. Parents alive & well. No disease in chest, though I fancied I heard some deep seated rales above in front on left side. Eats & sleeps well, not preached out of doors, but once, since attack of pneumonia; has a little cough & expect in morning.
Got slonter, used to be so thin that he was called a walking skeleton.
His cough is a deep hollow one, expect yellow. Preaches occasionally in doors. Rheumatic sometimes. Voice hoarse & husky, hoarse or gruff according to power used. Lary easy. Both vocal cords normal & meet well in sounds, but the left Regulator or false cord seems as if spread out over the inner surface of vocal cord & abducts the ventricle, more so posteriorly. Trachea well seen & quite normal & so are arytenoids & epiglottis. Uvula is sharp & pointed but not long. Muc. mem. of Regulator is pale pink.
Dr Richardson of Exmouth & Dr Whalley of Ottery, treated him.

201 Inquest on a child that fell out of a Perambulator causing Concussion of the brain, & subsequent fatal Congestion of the lungs -

On Friday 25 June 1869, Mrs Ward lost her Infant son home at Westminster ^{hospital} aged 17 was in a moribund state. It was pallid, could not cry, tossed its arms about & was passing froth; scarcely any pulse. The chest throughout was in a state of congestion with universal dulness. The head felt all right, with I thought some irregularity or depression over one of the parietal bones. I administered stimulents, & other measures, but it died shortly after at home at 2 Clanners St, York Road Lambeth. I learned from the mother that the child was left in its perambulator outside of the door of the little girl's mother who had charge of it ^{on 25th} & whilst she was gone the child, a strong one, clambered up behind & the perambulator tipped up in front, & the head went down, the child falling with its head. It was picked up & was partly after, especially on Sunday 27th when Congestion of the lungs no doubt commenced which killed it on the 29th.

I gave a Certip of death on 30th, & it seems that an Inquest became necessary. I was summoned by Mr M. Carter & Mr Corne for Surrey, to attend a Saturday the 3rd July at Mr Bryants, known by the sign of the Bell, in York Street, off of York Road, Lambeth, at 12.30, and appeared then peremptorily. The Child's name was Richard Augustus Ward, and I gave evidence touching the cause of death, receiving fee of 2/- & left when the Jury went to examine the body. They gave a verdict in accordance with the nature of the accident, and I suppose it must have appeared somewhere in the papers, for some person asked me for my card to get the correct name.

202 Stammering -

Thomas Young, aged 24, came to me July 15th 1869 for stammering. of 3 or 4 years duration. Is a dyer by trade & a reading man & very intelligent. Has written something about himself which is printed wherein he calls his Complaint a vocal nerve impediment.

In speaking or rather in his attempts to speak when the stammer is present, the lips are closed & soft palate and tongue in contact. The glottis gets tight shut in his efforts, & of course the Chest cannot be filled with air.

Opening the mouth & feet, breathing upward this as I saw for myself. He wished to be always as he felt continuous working down the neck in his efforts, & I sent him to Dr. Althaus - He had seen Dr. Jas Hunt, who looked upon his case as a bad one.

 stopped up in right nostril, which is beginning to swell on the outside. Rhin. swelling of the septum on the right side &

James Raleigh, age 42, ad 27 July 1869 under Dr Finckham - Is a Railway Carriage Examiner, on S.W. line. Been ill 2 years - sent me to examine Aug 14. Voice partly hoarse, with rising breathing. Larynx. Large fleshy swelling, divided into 3 portions extending from the laryngeal aspect of root of epiglottis backwards, & leaving a small space to breath through. Lower larynx & cords probably healthy. Tracheitis beginning attacking root of epiglottis & anterior part of probably both wings of thyroid cartilage.
 He has a Constrictive dysphagia. Heart a little crepitation & dulness at posterior part of right lung, probably tuberculous - To inhale steam for a few days with 4 or 5 gr doses of iodine & Cod Liver oil & then tracheotomy - if necessary -

Mr Hagg, aged 100 years, I went to see Septem 2nd 1869 at St George's Workhouse, Faltham Road

I enquired for Mrs Buddelley the matron, who brought the old body down stairs. She is now deaf but can hear by speaking loud to the left ear. Her eyes are perfectly clear & she can read without specs. Her voice remarkably loud, clear & powerful & she can be heard over all the rest of the people. She allowed me at once to do Lary & I saw a perfect & beautiful, thoroughly ventricled, leaf shaped epiglottis & a capacious larynx & fairly long vocal cords. She is from the Highlands of Scotland somewhere near Rothsay, I understood her. She is tired of life & would like to die. But her health is perfect, & she does not look so extremely old as the old gentleman at Marden College. At times her head shakes. She has a good mouthful of teeth too.

Continuous Throat Cough. Lung hysterical. 208

Ellen Goodene, aged 40, came to me October 2. 1869 from Mr. J. Croft, Surgeon, Petersfield, who wrote me on 15 Sept about her. Her mother keeps the Turnpike Gate at Rake, & she lives there with her sister brother.

He wrote she has never had her Catamen regular, 1 yr ago became subject to a peculiar kind of deep sonorous cough, incessant from morning till night, perfectly quiet during the latter. He found her Chaudae vessels pale & thick. She has taken the Bromide persistently, & as a last offer, I am hoping he would send her some needles eye. I fear if I have been tried. There must be some pressure on the recurrent laryngeal one would think.

On seeing her I found her with constant tickling in the throat, with a true throat cough, continuously occurring in short successions, not at all from the larynx or chest, & the mouth became flat in doing it. Had coughed like this 3 years, although it had been present 5 years. Been married lately. I found she was pregnant it as she lay down on my sofa. Is now ill attemper, but had fits from 12 to 20 yrs of age, & at one time suffered from swelling of the abdomen. Unmarried. Lary. Epiglottis partly pendulous, receding from the Coughing, & inner memb. of its folds, & of the fauces generally relaxed & retracted. Larynx & trachea normal. No apparent disease athermic. Voice is good but disposed to be husky. The malady was not unlike eclampsia or Sclerous Convulsion. I observed she had some control over the Coughing when her attention was directed from it. I do not think the branches of the pneumogastric have any thing to do with it, & that it is a case of Retained Throat Cough.

Oct 4 I wrote my views of the Cause to Mr. Clegg, & advised people of Alm, Gly & M. Pol. & to make her lay down ^{certain periods} altogether for a time. & treat the uterine condition if not too late at the time of life, by Lad. pot especially. I told the sister I thought the Cause depended a good deal upon herself. Chert is quite sound.

Albert James, ad 22, ad Nov 20th 1864 sent me by Dr Arch Duke Duncan of Jones St. Ill. with or 10 days with noisy breathing, but his voice is natural & swallowing good. But it affected him so as to cause fainting. Looks delicate -

Dr Wallace had written me abt her. Her friends are at Rotherhithe. Cough is worse towards evening & especially when going to bed.

29th wrote Dr Wallace an af of the case in reply to his of 16 day.

Dec 3 Is now almost quite well, for the cough has nearly stopped.

215 Chronic Stomach Laryngitis, with destruction of the bones of the internal nose &c.

This patient has been constantly under my care at Westminster since Novem 1863, & her case is recorded in my Work on the Throat Edit 3. She had Aphonia for the last 6 or 8 months, and ulceration frequently occurred in the fauces, so that the velum became partly adherent to the back wall of the pharynx. She latterly had pains about the forehead & temples as if the bones were sympathizing with the disease, which had a good deal of trouble about it. The Aphonia was due to general thickening of all the upper part of the larynx, more so than of the true vocal cords. She was kept in tolerably good health by large doses of Iod Potassium 6 to 12 or 15 grs t. d. in Decoel Cinchona. But it had to be discontinued according to Season & weather. During the trying weather of this winter she was subject to attacks of Bronchitis, and on the morning of the 22 March 1870, her brother found her dead in her bed at 1/2 past 9, and as she was quite warm, death must have occurred only shortly before. I suspect the immediate cause of death was Corpulent pneumonia. - No autopsy was allowed - general apertures & passage seems clearer. I wrote this to Dr Barnett &

This was Mary Ann Cox under care at Westminster Hospital since 14 Dec 1869 for dysphagia, with swelling & induration of the neck especially on left side. She took food not regular, & a great deal of this dropped & she was able to swallow pretty well by 5 April 1870. She took for a time Mist Acid & Gnt C. Announced p.r.v.
31 May 70. She swallows pretty well. little sticks now & then. E.C.
She ultimately was quite cured. I never used any bougie

I examined a man on Dec 3rd 1870 with dysphagia, from some oesophageal obstruction - at abt 60 under S. Basham, & in his presence - & found swelling of right arytenoid cartilage & ulcers on right side of the epiglottis & fold of mucous memb.
 The interior of the larynx was sound.

Also same date a woman with Phthisis pulmonalis and of the larynx as well. She was very weak & delicate & examined with some difficulty - under S. Shreeves.
 There was complete suppurative oedema, & 3rd ch. voice was fair, but the breathy stertorous.

John Barry, at 37. Had aphonia 6 months - A stout man, who got wet in his clothes, got cough & aphonia, & I examined him on Dec 6th 1870 at Westminster.
 There was general congestion of the entire larynx & no action of the vocal cords, from general tuberculous infiltration - The base of the right lung also was involved -

Janet Wood, aged 20 on 29 Dec 1870, had an attack of hysteria on evening of 4th Jan'y 1871 in my kitchen, as she is the Cook.
 Brought on by putting about a pudding &c she feared was spilt.
 Had a similar attack 6 years ago & was in St. Mary's & afterwards West Essex Hospitals. Had 15 hrs & 15 min & all dead of decline except 2 hrs older than her. No pains living - She says she has been cured of Phthisis. & gets nervous & anxious at times. The attack last night was truly hysterical, but she did not seem to be conscious - & she struggled on the floor but it was not a convulsion. Her clothes were loosened, stomach rubbed & Cold water thrown on the face -

Susanna Acland aged 16, admitted at Westminster Hospital 27 Dec 1870. with a little foliated growth on the middle of the roof of her mouth thus:—  it commenced like a little pimple the size of a pin's head 2 months ago & then began to grow, & she could twist it around with her tongue. This showed it to be held simply by a pedicle. Her general health is perfect.

She is of short height, & does not look more than 12 yrs old.

¹⁸⁷¹ Jan 4th I removed the growth with a loop of wire in my Surgical ecraseur & the pedicle was of the size of a in the next figure. There was free bleeding for a while, the pedicle felt a little stiff, & I applied the solid caustic bit. Growth was simply epithelial.

 tion as a Chanter at Westminster Abbey, Rochester, Canterbury &c, especially as a Solo Singer. Besides slight Coryza & irritation of Mucous, there was a long loose thin membranous cord of the cords, thus, which kept up irritation & prevented control over the middle part of the Scale. He had also Cough. Last Feb 3rd E Pol had pri'y t.d.

 necessary to remove the loose cord & remove on 15th & no bleeding followed. He got a Cutis too from me. Lives at 3 Rochester St S.W.
 20th Was certainly better, though the middle notes were still weak.

28 Feb He has quite recovered the full power over all his notes, & his voice

Lodgment of a fish bone for a stone 226

Ellen Martin and 23, sent to me May 20th 1871 by Dr Rouch of Montague Spr. She swallowed a fish bone 3 weeks ago, & had great pain after it, with subsequent throat symptoms. Yet she was always able to swallow. Her symptoms indicate the situation he wrote. Says she should nothing. The mass inflamed & edged of the left tonsil. She had been bleeding at the neck & was lately dead. I admit was Water-pipes & today 23rd I found her very much better in every way.

Her sister I attended many years ago, near Hudson Spr. at Dr Rouch for contraction of the os uteri, which he dilated wth bougies, 227

Henry Smith from 195.

The horse he was riding was bit by a rattlesnake & it threw him breaking his arm & dislocating his shoulder, & receiving a cut over the eye. When he recovered he pursued his journey to the City of Portland where he is to stop the winter. His summer wages of illnips cost him $380 Throat He cannot breathe thro month or rose, the wound never chafes nor gets sore nor does he catch cold in it; he is as well hearty & strong as he ever was & can do his work at the mines or at sea either. It makes no difference to him going on top at sea. He asked if he could breathe if the tube were removed or would the hole close up; & how long the present tube would last, as he would not return to England before next winter. At the beginning of Feb, he goes back to the mines. Every S^r who saw him, had never seen such an operation performed as that on him; they could not make out how he walked, walked about & rode thro the Country as he did. To address him Globe Hotel, Car Front & C Streets, Portland, Oregon, U. S. A. The letter reached me Jan'y 11. 1871 & I replied to it on the 23rd. July 28 ^{letter} by returned was returned thro Dead Letter Office ¹⁸⁷¹ October 28 I exand Mr Lucy^c & found the passage pretty dear though he still was the better Voice Capital & could breathe upland pretty well. Had worn it they found his travels, health perfect.

Wm Blair, aged 58, admitted March 31, 1871 at West.
Sent to my patient Mr Beatty, at Larkston. He had decided weakness of the voice since Christmas, got very low & persisted & found he was going to break up altogether. I saw him not long since beyond a little congestion of the larynx & relief of fauces with a nylony loose flabby uvula. No treatment seemed in any way effective until I cut off the loose end of the uvula on 13 May when he gradually improved, especially with the aid of Guinon's Mix, & was discharged quite cured on 16 June.

Acute Laryngitis John Bennett aged 50 June 21, 1871 at Westminster. Examined & seen, in St. Barbara's wards, for him who had had an attack of acute laryngitis 6 weeks ago, who was slowly improving. To day there were the remains of acute inflammation, i.e. still vivid redness of the whole interior of the larynx, with a little hypertrophy of both vocal cords but which will not now proceed to suppurative adenoma.
July 28 With an attack of Bronchitis he was much worse & to day there was suppurative adenoma of both vocal cords & I at once advised tracheotomy.

 by Dr North where discharging patient she was. He suspects they do not make out the case at the Throat Hosp; for she had formerly syphilis from her husband. She had been ill since Feb 1870, & for last 10 days can scarcely get her breath. Voice is clear but there is dysphagia & occasional stridor. The dysphagia has existed 4 mos.

hysterical & the Catamenia are regular

Sarah Debenham I went to see in the Sudbury Workhouse Saffolk, with Mr Herbert Smith on Monday 20 May 1872 She was born & christened at Melbourn in 1769 and was now 103 years old. She had been imbecile all her life & quite harmless. Hearing & sight imperfect and has always been healthy - takes a pint of beer daily & used to have fire brandy. Her hair is as white as snow & she has the peculiar silvery white tinge of the skin of the face. There can be no doubt of her age. Pulse is quite regular & comfortable though the arterial coats can be felt perhaps a little thicker than natural. Chest capacious & all viscera quite normal. Voice smooth, melodious & clear. Some difficulty in persicade she to be examined as of other imbecility, for her epiglottis is normal & larynx normal; teeth all gone - Sometimes she faints. She gets up & dances a little when asked.

Ann Slocomb, I visited at 6 Surmon's Almshouses, Isleworth on Thursday 30 May 1872, through the following extract in The Times of 29 April.

MORE CENTENARIANS.—There is now living at No. 6, Surmon's Almshouses, Isleworth, an inmate named Ann Slocomb, who completed her hundredth year on the 17th inst. She was from 1828 to 1830 matron of the old Isleworth Workhouse. Mrs. Slocomb was born at Send, near Guildford, April 17, 1772, and at present is hale and hearty. On her last birthday she planted a tree in the garden of the almshouses to commemorate the event. Since then a local subscription has been set on foot to provide her with some additional comforts now she has entered on her second century. Some few months since a female pauper died in the Isleworth Union Workhouse at the advanced age of 104 years.

I saw her daughter who must be 70 who lived with & waited upon her. She was indeed with a bad cold & a cough & although much shaken, she was better than she was. She lay on her right side & occasionally sat up without assistance. She had no teeth, which gave the mouth & chin a peculiar appearance; the colour of the skin of the face was white & smooth, & smooth about the cheeks; the eyes were of a bluish grey & the cornea as clear as crystal without annulus or arcus, she had used spectacles for as long as her daughter could remember. She was a little deaf, but heard her daughter perfectly well, who carried on the conversation between her & me. Voice was clear & smooth, not harsh or loud, & some of her words were very distinct. Her intellect was good & her memory perfect. The heart & lungs were healthy compensating for her cough & cold, pulse was fairly good, soft, regular, no hardness, quite regular. Hands thin, veins very distinct on the backs of both, skin thin & transparent. Throat & larynx healthy, the epiglottis perfect & intact, the larynx healthy, V. C. short but of the greyish white. In stature she was short & generally inattentive every day in the little garden with the aid of a stick. Last winter, that is the winter of 1870-71 she had a bad attack of Catarrh & was nearly dying, became pulseless &c, yet she relied. Now altho she is weary, her condition does not indicate that she will see many more years. Her Countenance is small & my old looking for the contracted Chin & drawn in mouth.

 Yet she had not the venerable appearance of some others I had seen, tho her hair was pure white. She had 5 children, 3 of whom grew up; her maiden name is Cossor, & the record of her birth is in the Guildford Parish Register. She made the 9th living Contenarian I have seen & examined & an af of her visit is in Vol 8 of Events in my Life - page 399. Is attended by Mr Day

Letitia Slater, aged 20, I visited on June 28th 1872 in Geet's Court, at the request of her father.

She had been seduced by a young man, a neighbour, and when pregnant about 3 mos, he gave her 2 tea-spoons of quicksilver to procure abortion. It did not do so, but in a little while she began to shake about the right side of the body, & could scarcely walk firmly as she stumbled in her gait, which indeed led to her mother discovering her pregnancy. She could not grasp firmly with the right hand too. She was now close upon 6 mos pregnant, & had very much attended to which she was her mother said. On 12 July the symptoms had ~~extended~~ to the other side of the body & no perceptible change attended.
Sept 12. They had somewhat improved, as if the effects of the Mercury were now wearing off -

Nov 26 I gave evidence in accordance with the above in the Marylebone Police Court. She was then with her baby a few weeks old, with the snuffles from birth, no doubt resulting from the Mercury - I found 3 teaspoons of quicksilver to weigh $5\frac{3}{4}$ oz.

Mrs Elizabeth Leatherlund, aged 110 I visited at Tring on Wednesday 15th October 1873. The following letter appeared in The Times of August 16th which I saw just before going to Scotland, & on my return I wrote to Mr Loxley on Octob 3, but my letter was returned thro the dead letter office as his proper address was

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

Sir,—I was this morning a witness to a feat which may possibly be of interest to your readers.

Mrs. Elizabeth Leatherlund, of the age of 110 years, reaped two sheaves of wheat in a field belonging to Mr. John Mead, of Tring, Herts. Her baptismal certificate may be seen at Mr. Tompkins's, ironmonger, Tring.

Your obedient servant, ARTHUR LOXLEY.

Norcott-court, Herts, Aug. 14.

Mr Loxley on Octob 3, but my letter was returned thro the dead letter office as his proper address was

Mr Arthur Loxley, Norcott-Court,

Northchurch, Berkhamstead, Herts. On 10th I wrote to Mr Tompkins who replied next day she sent me a photo of the old lady; and to day 15th I went to Tring to see her. The general notes of my visit are given in Vol 8 of Events in my life, but the special examination I made revealed the following facts.

No doubt if she reaped 2 sheaves of wheat she must have been partly supported, because she toddled into the room where I was with the aid of a stick, being held by the arm at same time. Stature was short, a little bent with age, complexion brownish for she is of gipsy descent, and her countenance a mass of thick folds (not wrinkles) & she was most unmistakably much older in appearance than any of the other Centenarians I had examined thus far. She conversed & chatted away continuously in a good clear & distinct voice, not tremulous or cracked, evincing good chest capacity. The muscles of the neck were very distinct &

I stood out in bold relief, well defined, especially sternal ^{the} ^{any} ^{or fatty} ^{entire ab-} ^{sence of} adipose tissue. The breathing wholly by the chest & not the belly, i.e. the chest expanded during inspiration, readily owing to the resilience of the costal cartilages which were not ossified, & the breathing was regular, uniform & slow. Heart's action regular with feeble impulse, not an abnormal sound, heart pulses almost free from hardness, quite soft as in a girl, regular & uniform, and about 60 per minute. No calcification to be felt anywhere, whether in the neck or arms, or temples. Appetite & digestion fairly good, but complained of pain in her stomach after her tea, and some general itching of the skin of her legs at night or going to bed. Had 3 teeth - 2 in front in lower jaw & 2 or 3 molars, & several in upper jaw especially the molars, not decayed in the least. Tongue was large, pink & quite clean & free from fangs of a distinct champagne. After some difficulty, she allowed me to introduce the Laryngeal Mirror (this greatly frightened her) & I saw a splendid vertical epiglottis & as perfect a larynx, with short vocal cords perfectly normal in colour, & triangular plates. Erythema was that of a young person. External thyroid cartilage felt quite soft & could be compressed laterally, & gave a cadaverous feel over the cricoid. The trachea could be flattened either laterally or antero-posteriorly, all showing absence of osseous changes -

Her conversation indicated unvariable intelligence & activity of mind, tho now her memory is failing a little. She is a little deaf now, but hears tolerably well on the whole. Her eyesight is becoming impaired, one eye I was told had little or no sight, but she is able to knit thine bags very well, but cannot see & read, she can however distinguish things & persons & see my little mirror very well. Senses of smell & taste perfect, she is fond of snuff, never smoked, always been temperate & regular in her habits. Her ^{throat} is as soft as velvet, I never felt a softer, & Mr Lipscomb who attends her told me it was in folds about the body, like on the face. Her hair was quite gray, ^{she} was not bald, forehead or head narrow laterally. The result of my examⁿ found an absence of all the changes of old age, she was like a girl constitutionally. Was married at St James Church, Dover, at the age of 20 & has had 5 children, 1 son & 4 girls. Her husband died 54 years ago. None of the Cartilages nor blood vessels had undergone any changes of calcification.

253 Phthisis Pulmonalis & indirectly involving throat.

Clarissa Islet, Oct 28, sent me Novem 7th 1873 by ship Fanny Harvey (Vol 11. 356). Ill some years wth her throat, but more Oct 7 or 8, Voice mainly affected. Began wth inflamⁿ of throat at 21.
Shut cough in evening & 1st thing in morning & so a good deal of expectorⁿ at night. Sometimes dysphagia but on the whole is able to eat her food.
No regular swelling in neck, but a tenderness over trachea below the larynx.
Feels a sort of general stinging throughout the throat & as if she would be choked.
Pulse very feeble. Was in Brompton Hosp under Lucien, & when she left she had tracheitis at both apices. Cough now emphatic breathing in both apices & no doubt cavities. Lungs nil. but the irritation is outside of trachea. Glycogen & his die ex lactis to live as well as she can. Sin Chloroform to neck.

 cham. ill 3 mos. La Inflamⁿ with superficial desquamative ulcerⁿ in the sac of the pharynx to the right of the body of T.C.
 & partly extending to it. Much dysphagia. Salⁿ not any 3; 5; 5; daily wth Carned bread & Food am pr v b d.

Nov 21 Now much thinner & dyspnoea wth the dysphagia. La. found doubly in pharynx to right of T.C. & round right arytenoid epi glottic fold, wth deans down the cartilage there; as well as deep & double curv^d of inlet of the larynx, wth consid^d swelling of the right vocal fold & saw of left, so that glottis is size of - Prayon's head. probably scrofulous. Aug^d larynx down 2nd floor.

Decem 5 Is certainly better, the swelling in larynx is less & the V.C. can be more easily seen to day. But the swelling outside of the right side of larynx is ulcer^d & this is extend^d within. He has taken a little mace powder. Inlet of larynx is much constricted. So a bit of wax a spray of Dr Sulf^r pr x ad 5; - 12th Is better but still studies & some rigidity of Thyroid Muscles - dysphagia increasing - Cough less - Shoud^d him to Dr Mc Dougall.

255 Various symptoms of elongated Worms - Unusual.

Henry R. Coombs

Boy from Stephens School Westchester, on Decem 12th 1873, I removed one of the largest membranous ends of the worms I found as sold here in one so large, for such stout, hoarse, ~~eyes~~ aphonia &c. Truly Rev Wm Tennant. of St Stephens Vicarage - Richard enlarged tonsils as well. And had had + pay alone He got quite cured, & by Jan 13 was strong & hearty under the use of Sturt & Bromides. Recd a letter of thanks from him Jan 16th for his recovery -

Pertussis in an adult very severe

Case ad at West Hays 20 March 1871 with well marked symptoms of Pertussis, now in 2nd stage with frequent spasms & hoarse. Catarrhal Stage 3 weeks - Used Pert Sp & Am Brind pr + t. d. Lin Camf Co to Chest -

George Wether, ad 37, ad 16 Decm 1873. Wed Hdg. Lives at Commercial Bds, Commercial Rd, Lambeth.

Has had spasmodic fits of choking for 8 months. But 3 yrs ago had his 1st attack of it & it ceased until the 18 mos ago. Is very nervous, with bad digestion & flatulism. Great tenderness around the cricoid cartilage, the least pressure brings on a spasm. pulsed Cam 3/4 & grv had Pot +.

23 Chased by elul Cam 3/4 Pot had grv Pot found gr 3. +. d.
Better, fits of suffocation less. Used to be so bad suddenly in the short time, he had to go to the General D^r for a night. He was sent to me by Mr Robert C. Brookes 137 West Bdg Road - 1874

Jan 13 He was quite free from any bad symptoms now, no pain sensibly a spasm - Health & diges better - pt sent.

Feb 20 Has kept pretty well on the whole, but is again tender & considers some spasm when the wind is E or S.W.

25th Brachiole pressing on Trachea, causing attack of dyspnoea.

Mary Hammond, aet 29, sent me April 27th 1876 by Mr Fencham Baker, L from Shropshire, now a Cook. Throat had 2 yrs, it swells, & draws neck, has vomited her food last 3 days, but has been sickish 10 days.

The neck is swollen for a finger on right side, extending over trachea to the left & this the pressure of the median flap that is cause of all trouble.
Is despondent, & pale. Has got thinner, used to be stout by Am Ind 8012
No cough. Plumbe Bromide gr xv C. mag. li d. ^{Am Ind 8012}

May 1 Was already much better, & the central lobe actually diminishing in size. Sickness gone - Looks better &c.

8th Still improving, & better in every respect - sleeps well. No discharge 15th Has felt wonderfully comfortable this week, can raise the head so much better. Trachea can be traced all the way up now for the right lobe is fully movable. Has felt a little depressed - omit Soda in mix.

26th. Still doing well, & looking less pale. I changed ^{Am Ind 8012} the Med to this - & the Ling. to ^{Am Ind 8012} now in the median line - ^{Am Ind 8012}

June 4. Cough harder in middle again, low spirited, Mother was kept her -

8th Still so & changed her medicine to this, C. mag ^{Am Ind 8012}

& the Ling of Plumbe Bromide as before t. d. ^{Am Ind 8012}

16th now much better, more softer, spirit good -

22nd Leaves her place to day. Tho better, tumor a little hard in middle -

July 2 Was admitted into Westminster Hospital under Halliwell - 11th He performed operation of placing a cyston on each side of the central isthmus which passed a sort of flat tumour, & then cut it out, leaving the trachea quite free. The tumor was partly cystic & fame cut to some fluid. On section it looked like a portion of degenerated thyroid gland. There was not much bleeding altho small veins ramified on the surface of this tumor. She was under the influence of Chloroform - This is the 1st time the operation has ever been done -

14th The wound has nearly all healed & she has no inconvenience from it, & feels nothing in front of the trachea now, whether in breathing or swallowing. Was a little sick after the Chloroform, & the day after a burst of redness on & near the wound, but that passed away.

17th The sutures were removed to day & the sole remaining large ligature. She has got rather thin & weak, but otherwise is doing uncommonly well. 24th Wound quite healed - but there is a little hardness on left side of the neck & stiffness down down in front. Is up & about but feels further down as if she had at first. She left the Hospital on

Novem 16 Was married 29 June to man named Cooper & now lives at Rose Dale Cottage, Chiselhurst. Has never felt any inconvenience since. Trachea can be felt free & on either side the thyroid gland is little enlarged or prominent on left side. Is now stouter & stronger - Gave a Certif of health for Club -

January 23. 1875 Case in Lancet, in a paper of mine

Alice Dee, aet 17, admitted into Westminster Hospital under my care 17 Novem 1874. Mother lives 7 Westmarland St, Pimlico -

A healthy looking girl was sent to me by Mr M.W. Chambers of Southwold St Warmick Square, with general swelling of the entire front part of the neck, especially along the clavicles, from enlargement of the thyroid gland, which it appeared had existed since her birth.
 Whilst there was an unusual fulness of the neck, there was not the great prominence observed in most cases of bronchoecle. Yet the swelling was traversed by numerous enlarged & tortuous veins, though its extension behind the clavicles & pressure upon the subclavian & other deep seated veins. This gave rise to ^{some} facial purpescence & a ruddy complexion. The isthmus was felt continuously from the one side to the other & was closely applied to the trachea giving rise to occasional dyspnoea & dysphagia Cough & general discomfort, which had induced the girl's mother to seek advice from me.

She was put upon preparations of Iodine internally & the use of the Broun of Lead ointment externally. The neck improved in a few days, & the swelling became softer. But in the early part of December she had symptoms that simulated an attack of Quincke's with such extreme dyspnoea for 2 or 3 nights that the House Surgeon was called up to open the trachea. Fortunately relief was obtained by other means, & the use of fomentations, poultices, etc externally, & she got better, but as it was hopeless to expect a cure or even permanent relief whilst this enlarged isthmus remained, I concluded that surgical interference was necessary & might do more than medicine, & requested Mr Walther to examine her. As everything was favorable he consented to prepare the isthmus. Operation Decem 15. She was soon narcotized with Chloroform. The neck generally looked very much swollen & prominent on both sides, with numerous prominent veins coursing over it in various directions, extending up to the chin. An elastic feel existed over the median line of the neck where the isthmus was. An incision was made below the thyroid cartilage about $1\frac{3}{4}$ inches long, by cutting thro a ps of skin drawn up with finger. A vein was cut thro wh bled freely, requiring a ligature at both ends. A large vein coursed upwards from right to left, this was avoided. The superficial & deep fascia were cut through upon a director and the isthmus suddenly cropped up like a hermine tumour. This was found to be fully an inch wide & proportionately thick & was adherent to the surface of the trachea, for in the act of vomiting it rose up & down synchronously with the movements of the thyroid cartilage & trachea. Mr. Hallhouse detached it by using a pair of curved scissors cautiously between it & the trachea. A curved needle was passed under the isthmus armed with a double ligature and it was then tied in 2 places. But as the ligatures were liable to become detached in the event of division of the isthmus it was considered president to leave them in to hang out, & thus avoid the risk of hemorrhage.

The wound was now closed with sutures & she was sent or removed to bed.

18th Going on as well as could be expected, some pain over the trachea.

22nd Wound freely suppurating & doing well, pulse soft not quick, breathes easy, swallows well, less general tension of swelling on both sides of the neck & face not so turgid as it was.

29th Ligatures have come away & wound is healing. General turgescence of the face seems to have wholly gone & the prominence of the neck on either side has much subsided; the veins also are scarcely visible so great has been the relief of the general tension. Not an unpleasant symptom has occurred, she breathes easy & speaks with strength & power.

Jan'y 8. 1825 Wound almost quite healed, no inconvenience - a few small cutaneous veins course over the lower part of the thyroid enlargement on each side just above where it dips behind the clavicles. General health perfect.
Trachea can be traced upwards, but is a little hard corresponding to the site of the operation. 18th Exit with wound quite healed. Neck $13\frac{1}{2}$ = was $14\frac{1}{2}$ 23rd Case in Lancet today in a paper of mine.

261 Partial Paralysis of larynx & arytenoid muscles, from Haematuria & probably pneumonia of right Ph. - Recovery -

Robert Howard, age 34, ad into Burdett Ward, Westminster Hospital under me 21 Jan'y 1875. sent to me by Dr North of Montague Square -

He was an instrument player & in the army 10 years in the Band & served 3 years in Bengal. Discharged invalided from Haemorrhoids. felt pretty well until about 6 mos ago, when he caught cold & lost up of Off Blood which came up all in a hurry after coughing & had great pain across the abdomen - Since then has been a laborer at the railway, until 3 weeks ago when he had a 2nd attack of hemorrhage & lost up of another Off Blood. Is a spare man with a somewhat anæmic appearance, has lost much flesh lately - Has aphonia. Dulness of posterior part of left lung with crepitation which is heard also in front. Chorea of vocal freemeters - Tremulous cough with no expect. Put on M Conf Co & Acid Sulfur + d - Very pallid papules - & on 22nd of March 34 + d. Notes of Cotes my Clin Clerk 24 Somewhat improved - pulse 70. Heart normal - Urine natural -

But acid Sulph 34 Tropin m + d

Feb'y 2 Lark - Recovery the power of the Laryngeal muscles for the P of glottis was visible with power to produce sounds & closure. Epi-glottis normal Cup & Leaf like - No apparent disease of any kind - Under careful treat, with tonics &c he recovered well with a caput nause, became strong & went out on clerk 2nd Was a Temperate man. On 11th of March 34 he was discharged as cured.
